Physician suspended on charges he's unsafe to practice due to an untreated personality disorder

OLYMPIA — The Medical Quality Assurance Commission has immediately suspended the medical license of physician John C. Perry (MD00025747) of Kennewick. According to the statement of charges, a psychiatric evaluation concluded Perry is unable to practice with reasonable skill and safety due to an untreated severe narcissistic personality disorder.

Perry cannot practice as a physician in Washington until the charges are resolved. He has 20 days to respond to the charges and to request a hearing.

Legal documents in this case are available by calling 360-236-4700 or online by clicking the link to "Provider Credential Search" on the agency home page (doh.wa.gov).

The Medical Quality Assurance Commission protects and promotes public health, safety, and welfare in Washington by regulating physicians' and physician assistants' competency and quality. The commission develops rules, policies, and procedures to promote delivery of high-quality health care to state residents.
